

STARCATCHERS

GLASGOW FILM / THEATRE

platform

PAID OPPORTUNITY FOR A FILM MAKER

JANUARY – MARCH 2012

Fee: £1275 for 3.5 weeks work

Matt Addicott, Katy Wilson, Starcatchers, Glasgow Film Theatre and Platform are creating a special film with pre-school children in and around the East End of Glasgow.

'This Sucks - The Movie' is a surreal story devised by Katy and Matt featuring Hetty the Hoover that was originally a live performance experience for 3-5 year olds created as part of Matt and Katy's residencies with the Starcatchers project: www.starcatchers.org.uk

Matt and Katy plan to tell their young audience the story of 'This Sucks' before inviting the children to bring it to life by participating in five different scenes. The involvement of the children in these scenes will be carefully planned as each session will only last a maximum of sixty minutes.

Matt Addicott is a performance maker and director, Katy Wilson a designer and visual artist – their recent work for early years audiences includes 'Ice Pole, First Light, Sprog Rock, The Incredible Swimming Choir and Too Many Penguins' as well as projects in association with Platform, Tramway, The Arches and National Theatre of Scotland.

Filming will take place throughout February 2012 with the final edit to be complete by the end of March. The result will be shown to a large audience at GFT in late April.

We're looking for someone who has experience of live green screen techniques, editing software such as Final Cut Pro and working with young children. We would be keen for the successful applicant to have access to their own equipment as there is only a small budget for hiring materials.

The successful applicant will be expected to help Matt and Katy provide an enjoyable experience for the early-years audiences taking part whilst also ensuring that a short film with high production values is produced.

Once appointed the successful applicant will be consulted at every stage of the creative process and the fee offered is £1275 for approx 3.5 weeks work in total including editing.

If you are interested please email Matt and Katy info@mattaddicott.com for more information before January 17th 2012. Please include your CV and a link to your showreel to watch online.

This project has been made possible through Glasgow City Council's Area Committee Grants.

